MUSEO DI ARTE CLASSICA "DEI GESSI"

It was founded by Professor of archaeology and history of art Emanuel Lowy in 1892 as a modern teaching-project based on the study of masterpiece casts. It was transferred from its original seat in the neighborhood of Testaccio into the St. Michael Institute in 1925 and since 1935 it is situated inside the Campus. Restored between 1995 and 2000, the museum has by 56 rooms containing nearly 1,200 plaster casts of Greek and Roman sculptures.

The museum often hosts archaeological exhibitions and conferences.
