CHAPTER I – OBJECT AND DEFINITIONS

Art. 1 – Object of the Call

1. Sapienza is publishing a call for selections, henceforth “BE-FOR-ERC”, for the conferral of 5 fellowships for the development of a research project of excellence.

2. The BE-FOR-ERC Call is part of the “SAPIExcellence” Programme, an initiative fielded by Sapienza University to attract the best and most promising researchers by promoting their participation in Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions (MSCA) and European Research Council (ERC) funding schemes.

3. Research projects of excellence for the call must address one of the 3 macro-areas and relative ERC scientific sectors, as defined in Annex 1.

Art. 2 – Principal Investigators (PI)

1. Principal Investigators (henceforth PI), for the purposes of this call, refer to researchers who submit a 12-month research project of excellence to this call.

2. PIs are eligible if, by the call deadline for project submissions, they satisfy the following requisites:
   - Possess a PhD or equivalent university title obtained 2-7 years before January 1, 2020. The time that has effectively elapsed since receiving the PhD may be extended as follows:
     - 18 months – in case of maternity leave (cumulable per each child);
     - A number of months equal in duration to the leave enjoyed following the PhD and due to paternity leave, traineeships, long-term illness, and military or civil service.
   - Proof of scientific maturity and independence by having produced, for example, at least one important publication as a main author or without supervision by a PhD Supervisor;
   - Proof of a promising scientific track record in the relevant field of research and career stage through, for example: significant publications (as a main author) in important international and peer-reviewed scientific journals, invitations to speak at international conferences, awards and prizes, etc.;
   - Backing from the host department to participate in this call and, in case of a fellowship conferral, research funding;
• Are not related up to the fourth degree (marriage) with a professor at the host department or with the Rector, Director General or member of the university board of administrators;
• Has not presented more than one application to the present call.

Art. 3 – Host Department

1. Host Department (henceforth Department) refers to the structure at which the PI intends to carry out the research activities described in the submitted project.

2. The Department must accept, via a resolution by the Department Council, the project submission and provide the PI, in case of a fellowship conferral, a 12-month research grant (assegno di ricerca).

3. The Department, in case of a fellowship conferral, will be responsible for managing the assigned grant, paying the grant to the PI, identifying a Scientific Supervisor (a department professor to supervise research activities) and completing all post-fellowship requirements.

CHAPTER II – FELLOWSHIPS AND FUNDING

Art. 4 – Fellowship Grant

1. Each fellowship will receive €50,000 as follows:
   • €40,000 to fund an annual research stipend (assegno di ricerca) to the PI receiving the fellowship;
   • €10,000 for other costs related to research activities described in the research proposal, as described in Art. 7.

Art. 5 – Fellowship Duration

1. The fellowship will last 12 months.
2. The fellowship must begin within 6 months of the fellowship conferral.

Art. 6 – Research Grant (Assegno di ricerca)

1. The Department, upon conferral of a fellowship, will provide the PI with a research grant via a private law contract (assegno di ricerca), which will neither represent paid employment, nor provide the assignee with the right to university employee privileges.

2. The research grant will cover 12 months and may be renewed as per Art. 22, Paragraph 3 of Bill N. d 240/2010.

3. The overall duration of the working relationship, as per Art. 22, Paragraph 3 of Bill N. d 240/2010, including any renewals, may not exceed a period of six years, excluding the period of PhD studies during which the grant may be received, as per the maximum legal duration of said programme.

4. In any case, the overall duration of the relationship with research grant assignees and fixed-contract research posts with same person, as per Art. 24 of Bill N. 240/2010, may not exceed 12 months, even if not continuous. Periods of maternity leave and sick leave, as regulated by current legislation, are not considered in the determination of said period.

5. The research grant ("assegno di ricerca") will amount to €40,000 gross, before fiscal and welfare taxation, including that required by the Administration, and will be paid in monthly instalments. Moreover, the research grants are also subject to the fiscal measures established by Art. 4 Bill N. 476 (August 13, 1984), including subsequent changes and integrations, and the welfare measures established by Art. 2, Paragraphs 26 and subsequent, of Bill N. 335 (August 8, 1995), including subsequent changes and integrations, and the following measures regulating mandatory maternity leave by the Ministry of Labour and Social Welfare (July 12, 2007) and, for sick leave, Art. 1, Paragraph 788, Bill N. 296 (December 27, 2006) and subsequent changes.

Art. 7 – Direct Costs

1. Direct costs refer to expenses that are specified and directly related to the research activities, including, for example: participation in training activities; acquisition of laboratory materials and other consumables; participation in conferences and workshops; short missions or field activities; publication of papers and monographs; acquisition and use of patents.

2. Admissible direct costs from project kick-off are identified and covered by the Department as per accounting requirements established by university regulations for administration, finance and accounting (RDN. 65 of January 13, 2016 and subsequent changes).
3. Indirect costs related to research activities are not admissible, including, for example: project management activities, acquisition of office supplies, maintenance costs, telephone bills.

4. The Commission may call on highly qualified experts, either internal or external to the university, as further reviewers, but at no extra expense.

5. The Commission will be supported by the International Office for the procedures concerning the management and evaluation of applications.

Art. 11 – Application Evaluation Procedure

1. The evaluation procedure will begin with the assessment by the International Office of the formal and administrative eligibility of applications in terms of PI requisites, application presentation and required documentation (Art. 2 and 9-10 of this call).

The interview will address the presentation of the candidate’s research proposal.

3. The Selection Commission will conclude the scientific evaluation procedure within 180 days from the call deadline and publish the Ranking of PIs selected for funding and fellowship, based on their scores, for each of the three ERC scientific macro-areas. The fellowships will be divided amongst the three macro-areas, as far as possible and in respect of the call evaluation criteria, in terms of the number of applications presented to each macro-area and guaranteeing that at least one application will be funded for each macro-area.

4. The Rector, following an assessment of the regular administrative management of the call by the Director of the International Office, will approve the selection results and publish them on the university Transparency Portal at the following addresses:
https://web.uniroma1.it/trasparenza
https://www.uniroma1.it/it/pagina/sapiexcellence

5. If selected PIs are not able to accept the fellowship assignment, they will be replaced by the runner-up in each macro-area, as long as the runner-up obtained the required score in each of the evaluation steps indicated in Art. 12 of this call.

Art. 12 – Evaluation Criteria

1. Applications will be evaluated based on the following criteria:
   - Excellence of the scientific proposal in terms of its ground-breaking nature, impact, sustainability, quality of the research activity methodological approach and possibility to be further developed through a proposal to the upcoming H2020 ERC Starting Grant Calls;
   - Scientific excellence of the PI in terms of intellectual and creative capacity for research and the possibility to promote professional maturity/independence during the fellowship and be competitive in the upcoming H2020 ERC Starting Grant Calls.

   b) Citizenship;
   c) Right to full political rights;
   d) Absence of a criminal record or ongoing criminal proceedings.

   The declaration relative to points b) and c) must indicate these requisites were satisfied as of the call deadline.

   The winner will have to present a self-certification for his/her declaration information, present the original documents or present a tax-stamped copy.

The Department must ascertain that said activities are compatible with the research activities, not in conflict with the specific research activities carried out by the PI, and not prejudicial to the university. Moreover, the Scientific Coordinator and the Research Grant recipient must declare that they are not bound by pre-existing or ongoing professional relationships.

8. Research Grant recipients who intend to continue working for free as volunteers in non-profit cooperatives or cultural institutions may continue to do so, as long as this does not affect their research assignments.

Art. 17 – Fellowship Annulment

1. Research Grant recipients who do not regularly and continuously complete their research activities without a justified motivation or who do not fulfil their contractual obligations will be subject to contract annulment, following a motivated request by the Scientific Supervisor approved by the Department Council.

2. Valid reasons for fellowship annulment include:
   - Unjustified delay in beginning of research activities;
