Purpose, vision and strategic plan

Our purpose

To advance education, knowledge and wisdom for the good of society.

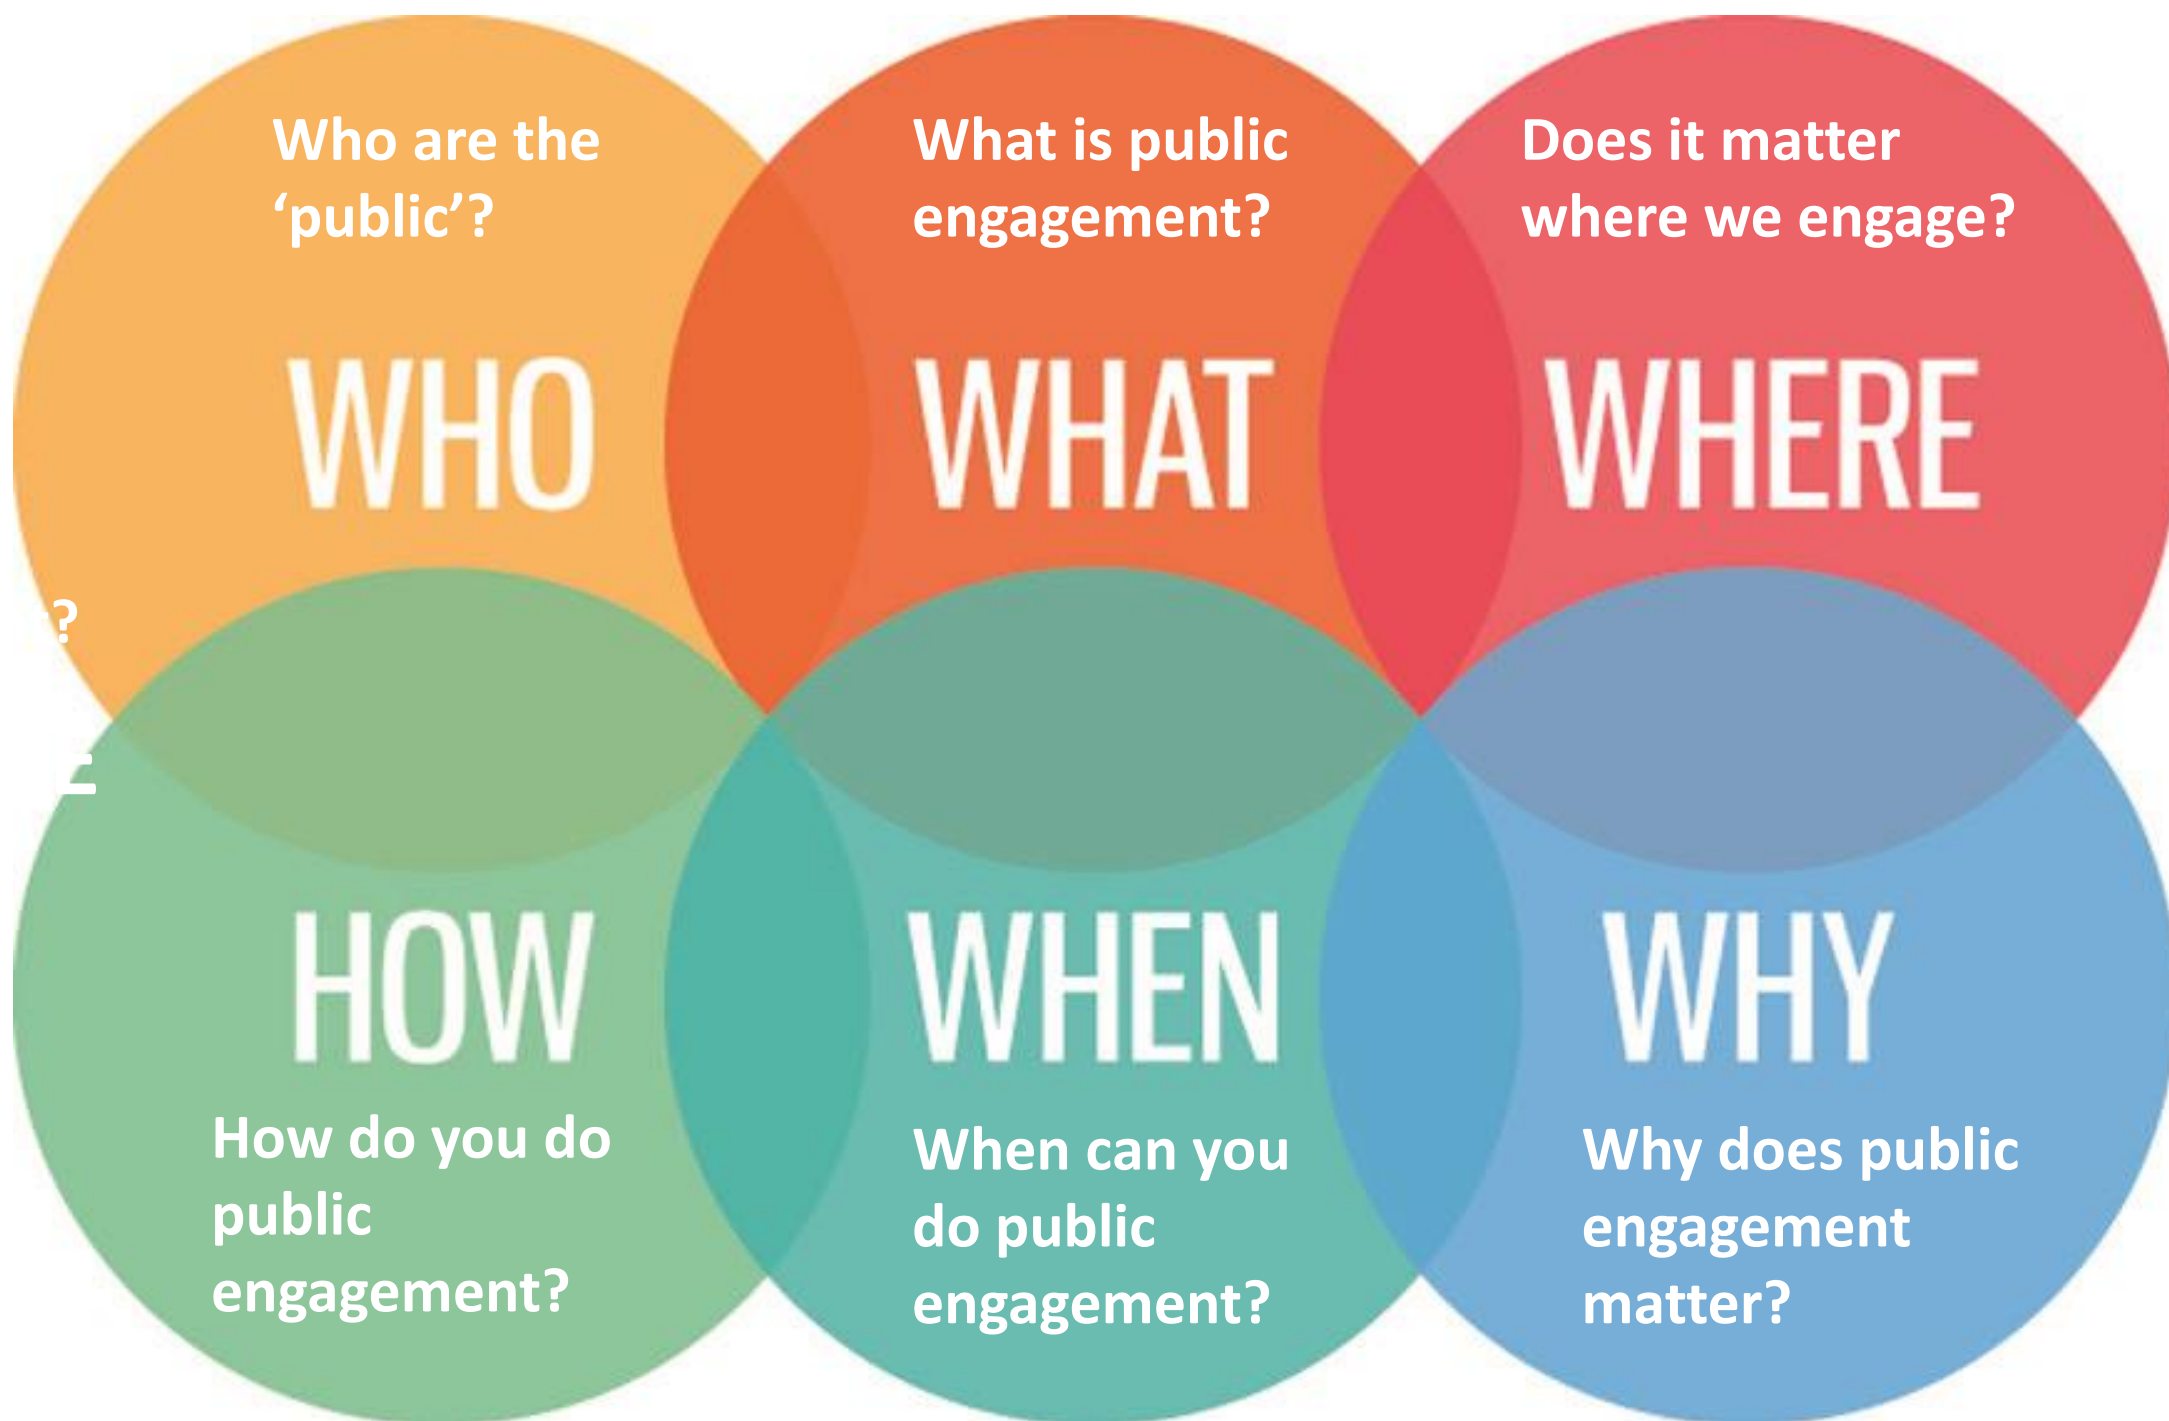

Our vision

We will be recognised globally for the excellence of our people, research, learning and innovation, and for the benefits we bring to society and the environment.

Our strategic plan

On the pages that follow, you can read about the key initiatives we are planning for the next five years on social responsibility and civic engagement.

THE ENGAGED UNIVERSITY

A Manifesto for Public Engagement

National
Co-ordinating
Centre for Public Engagement

What is public engagement?

“Public engagement describes the myriad of ways in which the activity and benefits of higher education and research can be shared with the public. Engagement is by definition a two-way process, involving interaction and listening, with the goal of generating mutual benefit.”

So, why does it matter?

Secretive and untrustworthy

Irrelevant and out of touch with society

Unaccountable and a waste of tax payers' money

Elitist and reinforcing inequality

RELEVANCE

- Research and teaching are more finely tuned to society's needs
- Innovation flourishes as new ideas & insights flow into HEIs
- Research outputs are easily accessible and widely used

ACCOUNTABILITY

- The purposes and impact of research are understood and valued by wider society
- Those with a stake in research feel they can influence investment priorities
- University governance is transparent and effective

Why public engagement matters

- Universities are seen to act in socially responsible ways, contributing to social mobility and addressing societal challenges
- Universities are experienced as good neighbours by the communities around them

SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

- Universities are trusted to act ethically and responsibly
- New, controversial areas of research are debated and public attitudes are taken account of

TRUST

Values and motivations

A: Normative reasons (it's the right thing to do)

- Research and innovation are a 'public good'. We have a moral and social responsibility to empower citizens to participate and to benefit from our work.

B: Substantive reasons (it allows us to achieve better outcomes)

- We will produce more valuable knowledge if we involve citizens in the process. Public Engagement enables us to maximize public benefits, for instance by reducing health impacts, increasing environmental sustainability, promoting inclusive growth or enhancing wellbeing.

C: Instrumental reasons (it is a way to secure useful ends, independently of more widely deliberated social values)

- If we don't prioritise public benefit we risk losing public and political support. Engagement is a tactical route to secure our future funding and our licence to practice, for instance by improving public understanding or maintaining public trust.

D: Statutory reasons (it is mandated, so I have to do it)

- There is a mandated obligation to engage with the public enshrined in policy and /or legislation

- a research system that produces high-quality, rigorous research that is open to all;
- an inclusive and collaborative research system that supports a diversity of people, ideas, institutions, methodologies, outputs, and activities; and
- an engaged and impactful research system that connects research with wider society to bring about positive socio-economic change

Our response to COVID-19

We are advancing public knowledge about COVID-19 and supporting the global fight to mitigate the impacts of this lethal new virus.

Our Online Learning Offer >

We're developing our approach to the online learning we offer to the North East community and beyond.

Volunteering >

There has been an amazing response from University staff and students to the crisis.

UNIVERSITY

Our new civic mission has people and place at its heart. Together in conversation with leaders, we have identified that the root cause of many of our region's challenges and priorities for action relate to social inequality. This is what we want to address.

We want to help end social inequality across North Wales by 2030.

Our aim as a University is to be useful and to innovate, co-create, test and deliver new approaches, enabling collective action in three priority areas:

CIVIC UNIVERSITY AGREEMENT

IN THIS CIVIC UNIVERSITY AGREEMENT, WE JOINTLY AGREE TO WORK WITH OTHERS ON ADDRESSING THE FOLLOWING:

How to cultivate a positive culture for public engagement?

Purpose

Mission

Leadership

Communication

Process

Support

Learning

Recognition

People

Staff

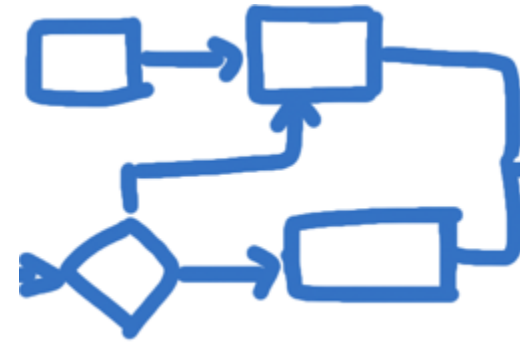

Students

Publics

Embedding a commitment to public engagement in institutional mission and strategy, and championing that commitment at all levels

Investing in systems and processes that facilitate involvement, maximise impact and help to ensure quality and value for money

Involving staff, students and representatives of the public and using their energy, expertise and feedback to shape the strategy and its delivery

THE EDGE TOOL
	FOCUS	EMBRYONIC	DEVELOPING	GRIPPING	EMBEDDING
PURPOSE	Mission	There is little or no reference to public engagement in the organisational mission or in other institution-wide strategies.	PE is referenced sporadically within the institutional mission documents and strategies, but is not considered a priority area.	PE is clearly referenced within the institutional mission and strategies and the institution is developing an institution-wide strategic approach.	PE is prioritised in the institution's official mission and in other key strategies, with success indicators identified. It is a key consideration in strategic developments in the institution.
	Leadership	Few (if any) of the most influential leaders in the institution serve as champions for public engagement.	Some of the institution's senior team act as informal champions for public engagement.	Some of the institution's senior team act as formal champions for public engagement.	The VC acts as a champion for PE and a senior leader takes formal responsibility. All senior leaders have an understanding of the importance and value of public engagement to the institution's agenda.
	Communication	The institution's commitment to public engagement is rarely if ever featured in internal or external communications.	Public engagement occasionally features in internal and external communications.	Public engagement frequently features in internal communications, but rarely as a high-profile item or with an emphasis on its strategic importance.	PE appears prominently in the institution's internal communications; its strategic importance is highlighted, and resources and strategic support have been allocated to sustain this.
PROCESS	Support	There is no attempt to co-ordinate public engagement activity or to network learning and expertise across the institution.	There are some informal attempts being made to co-ordinate PE activities, but there is no strategic plan for this work. Some self-forming networks exist, not supported by the institution.	Oversight and co-ordination of PE has been formally allocated (e.g. to a working group or committee) but there is minimal support and resource to invest in activity.	The institution has a strategic plan to focus its co-ordination, a body/ies with formal responsibility for oversight of this plan, and resources available to assist the embedding of PE. There are a number of recognised and supported networks.
	Learning	There is little or no opportunity for staff or students to access professional development to develop their skills & knowledge of PE.	There are some opportunities for staff or students to access professional development and training in PE, but no formal or systematic support.	There are some formal opportunities for staff or students to access professional development and training in PE.	Staff and students are encouraged and supported in accessing professional development, training and informal learning to develop their skills and knowledge of engagement.
	Recognition	Staff are not formally rewarded or recognised for their PE activities.	Some departments recognise and reward PE activity on an ad hoc basis.	The university is working towards an institution-wide policy for recognising and rewarding PE activity.	The university has reviewed its processes, and developed a policy to ensure PE is rewarded & recognised in formal and informal ways.
PEOPLE	Staff	Few if any opportunities exist for staff to get involved in public engagement, either informally or as part of their formal duties.	There are opportunities for staff in a handful of faculties or departments to get involved in PE, either informally or as part of their formal duties.	There are structured opportunities for many staff members to get involved in PE; but not in all faculties or departments. There is a drive to expand opportunities to all.	All staff have the opportunity to get involved in public engagement, either informally or as part of their formal duties, and are encouraged and supported to do so.
	Students	Few opportunities exist for students to get involved in PE, either informally, through volunteering programmes, or as part of the formal curriculum.	There are opportunities for students to get involved, but there is no coordinated approach to promoting and supporting these opportunities across the institution.	Many (but not all) students have the opportunity to get involved in PE and are encouraged and supported to do so. There is a drive to expand opportunities to all.	All students have the opportunity to get involved in PE, and are encouraged and supported to do so. The institution offers both formal and informal ways to recognize and reward their involvement.
	Public	Little or no attempt has been made to assess community need, or to support 'non-traditional' groups in engaging with the institution.	Some attempt has been made to analyse community need and interest; and to begin to tackle access issues to open up the institution and its activities to the public.	The institution has committed resources to assessing community need and interests, and to using this insight and feedback to inform its strategy and plans.	The institution has assessed need & committed resources to supporting a wide range of groups to access its facilities and activities, and to systematically seek their feedback and involvement.

The interactive EDGE

Use this interactive tool to assess your institution's support for public engagement.

Have a go at using the EDGE tool – drag the sliders to the statement that best describes how your institution is currently supporting public engagement. Submit your results to us and we'll offer some top tips about what to do next.

Part one: Purpose

Clarify your PURPOSE for engaging with the public

Mission

Create a shared understanding of the purpose, value, meaning and role of public engagement to staff and students and embed this in your strategy and mission.
