NATIONALISM AND THE MARKET
21-22 June – Sapienza University of Rome, Ple Aldo Moro,5

Thu. 21st June

10.30 OPENING - Welcome Addresses
11.00 SESSION 1 - Chair (Vincent Martigny)
- Oliver Zimmer (Oxford University), The end of the Space Age? Why nationalism keeps selling
- Jaime Lluch (University of Puerto Rico), The market and the strategies for secessionism and non-secession adopted by substrata national movements
- Carsten Humlebaek (Copenhagen Business School), Nation-building and nation-branding, friends or foes?

12.15 SESSION 2 - Chair (Luis Tomé)
- Christian-Pierre Ghillebaert (University of Lille), Quenching a thirst for nationalism: the incidental role of traditional taverns in the expansion of Flemish nationalism
- Zaheer Kazmi (Queen’s University Belfast), Islamism beyond nationalism. The transnational ideology of free market Islam
- Alfred Tovias (Hebrew University), Are single supranational markets being questioned?

13.30 LUNCH at “Aviatore” Restaurant

15.00 SESSION 3 - Chair (Daniele Conversi)
- Joel Chong (SOAS), Material Nationalism: Envisioning the Post-Cultural Nation
- Philip Dingeldey (Greifswald University), Rousseau, Fichte and the Possibility to Control the Market
- Thomas Richard (Auvergne University), Selling the nation: national narratives in museum shops in the Middle East;
- Szabolcs Poganyi (CEU, Budapest), The return of the national in the age of global markets

16.30 SESSION 4 - Chair (Vincent Martigny)
- Daniele Conversi (University of Basque Country), Markets, nationalism and the Anthropocene
- Thomas Jeffrey Miley (University of Cambridge), State, Nation and the Market in the era of neoliberalism, the war on terror, and the Anthropocene
- Peter Rutland (Wesleyan University), The political economy of nationalism in the 21st century

17.30 END OF DAY 1
20.00 SOCIAL DINNER at Gazeebo of “Aviatore” Restaurant

Fri. 22nd June

10.00 SESSION 5 - Chair (Adriano Cirulli)
- Mateo Ballester Rodriguez (Complutense University, Madrid), Xenophobia and economic protection as major factors in the early development of the Spanish national identity
- Marius Benta (George Baritiu History Institute), How to build walls that sell. Notes on the commodification of national identity
- Vincent Martigny (Ecole polytechnique, Paris), Cultural nationalism and the Market in France: an Ambivalent Relationship

11.30 SESSION 6 - Chair (Andrea Carteny)
- Zsombor Csata (Hungarian Academy of Sciences, Budapest), Economic aspects of the increasing ethnic parallelism in Transylvania, Romania
- Edward Quish (Cornell University, Ithaca, New York), New Capitalism, democracy and the cooperative commonwealth: The foundations of populist thought in the United States, 1866-1896
- Filipe Vasconcelos Romao (Autonomous University of Lisbon), The economic crisis and the national cleavage in Catalonia
- Daniel Pommier (Sapienza University of Rome), Oil and Homeland: nationalistic discourse on market integration
- Rana Daroogheh (Durham University), The Commercialization of National Heritage: the Iranian Case Study

13.15 LUNCH at “Aviatore” Restaurant

14.30 SESSION 7 - Book panel
- Identity and Nation Building in Everyday Post-Socialist Life (Routledge 2018)
eds by Abel Polese, Jeremy Morris, Emilia Pawlus, Oleksandra Seliverstova
- Participation of the editors and authors.

15.30 CONCLUDING REMARKS
16.30 END OF CONFERENCE

Conference organisers: Andrea Carteny, Daniel Conversi, Gil Delamoi, Vincent Martigny – Contact Ref.: Romina Rapisarda: romina.rapisarda@uniroma1.it

Edizioni Nuova Cultura